PROFILE

I am currently an undergraduate student pursuing a B.S. LL.B. degree, which provides a comprehensive foundation in legal studies along with an introduction to various aspects of law in practice. My academic journey so far has given me exposure to legislative drafting, advocacy, and public policy, helping me understand how legal frameworks interact with governance and society. I maintain an active interest in exploring the intersection of law, particularly in terms of how legal knowledge can contribute to addressing contemporary challenges. Alongside academics, I have engaged in research activities, taken part in leadership opportunities, and contributed to initiatives focused on career development within the legal domain. These experiences have helped me develop analytical, organizational, and collaborative skills, which I aim to strengthen further through practical learning and professional exposure.
